

ABSTRACT

A system and method for managing series video-on-demand (SVOD) products is described. One implementation of the described device includes the steps of receiving a selection to activate a SVOD guide; retrieving a list of SVOD providers; retrieving display data for each of the SVOD providers included in the list of SVOD providers; and initiating display of the retrieved display data for each of the SVOD providers, wherein a user can select at least one of the SVOD providers.
